THE IDEA

More than 100 years ago, the famous "Beelitzer Heilstätten" were created. Nowadays, a unique tree top and time travel path (barrier free) is winding above the World War II ruins of an Alpine house. In the old days, the working population of the imperial capital of Berlin was supposed to recover from the then rampant tuberculosis surrounded by the finest architecture and extensive forest parkways. Ever since, the flow of time with all its exciting developments and of course with many – very different – occupants and visitors has left its distinctive and visible marks. During your visit, you will discover the old buildings which, resembling old castles, exude their very own unrivalled beauty and charm.

Either on your own or as part of a guided tour you can stroll through a world in which normally only birds spread their wings. Here, you will get some exciting and unique insights into the history, stories and nature related to this place rescued from destruction. The 40-metre-tall viewing tower offers some spectacular views and vistas, from the Fläming region all the way to Berlin. The lift takes you all the way to the top.

"It was only when I put my wish into practice which I had cherished from a young age, when I started to study architecture a joyful life began inside of me."

Heino Schmieden 1835-1913

The architect Heino Schmieden shaped the face of various German cities in the Wilhelmine era, particuarly through the creation of public buildings. Concert halls, museums, courts, university and administrative buildings – and first and foremost hospitals were designed by Schmieden. For this reason, he was the leading architect during the founding and erection phases of the Beelitz sanatoriums (1898-1902).

Together with his childhood friend and business companion Martin Gropius he strove to create a modern, people-oriented form of architecture which considered creative beauty to be an inextricable part of the function of a building. The Beelitz sanatoriums are a proof of this pretence. The architectural critic Gerwin Zohlen wrote in 2012: "Even in today's ruinous and shredded state the Beelitz sanatoriums are the hard-to-grasp document of an architectural and aesthetic overspill as well as overvalue, which was dedicated to social and medical purposes in its day. The dignity, stance and the commitment which the sanatoriums eradiate appear to be almost unimaginable today, particularly so as all these efforts were made for the lower and middle classes. And at the same time, they are a testimony of the architectural skills which certainly existed 100 years ago."

THE FOREST PARK

Long stays in the fresh air, such as extensive walks and rest cures, were part of the therapies in Beelitz in any season of the year. Before even the first building of the sanatorium was erected the gardens were designed to benefit the patients with the help of the gardeners of the nearby imperial parks of Potsdam. A part of the original pine forest was integrated into the park landscape. Even today, around 65 different tree and shrub species are to be found on the premises, which creates a marvellous play of colours particularly in the spring and in the autumn. This floral splendour is complemented by countless flowers in large flower beds.

A special botanical highlight is the forest roof on top of the World War II ruin of the Alpine house. Trees have been growing here since 1945. Also the other castle-like buildings are grown over by climbing plants and pioneer plants provide some extravagant motifs which are usually to be expected on temples in the jungle. Step by step, the old structures of the park are brought back to the light of day. Go ahead and discover them!

GASTRONOMY

What would a trip into the countryside be without a delicious snack, a cosy lunch or a piece of cake?

GASTRONOMY IN THE DISCOVERY AREA OF "BAUM & ZEIT"

In the pavilion (60 seats capacity inside) beside the viewing tower and a playground, a young team welcomes you with their culinary offers. During the main season, the large terrace and the beer garden offer some space in the open (approx. 200 seats).

THE DISCOVERY AREA "BAUM & ZEIT"

The "Restaurant & Landhotel Gustav" (approx. 600 metres from the pay desk) is immensely popular. Both restaurants are located directly on the L88 road, which divides the quadrants A and B of the Beelitz sanatoriums. We recommend that those who have visited the destroyed dining hall inside the Alpine house cross the L88 road to enter the historical building of the former men's clinic. Here you will find a dining hall which is identical in construction to that in the Alpine house. Having been refurbished, it now houses the cafeteria of the "Recura" clinics. Guests are welcome to dine here.

> Tip: The Tree Top Walk is situated in the middle of the Beelitz Asparagus District. Do not miss this delicacy during its high season (spring until 24 June).

Even more...

For visitors who appreciate the extraordinary, every day in the discovery area "Baum & Zeit" is the right day to visit!

What is more, on some days we even offer a bit more. Highlights this year are definitely the "Lange Nächte" (Long Nights) on 22 March, 28 April, 11 and 26 May, 30 June, 28 July, 22 and 25 August, 26 September, 2 and 27 October.
